

EXERCISE

Is there anything you “don’t want to know”? Are you avoiding information (medical testing, a good hard look at your finances, the truth about your romantic relationship) because you’re afraid it might reveal something terrifying? Take a deep breath and name your pain by listing the information you’re scared to know:
